Malawi

Chisomo children's home provides food, shelter, relationship building, family reintegration, health and income programmes to youth that live on Malawi's streets. Feed the Children is proud to support their efforts with VitaMeal, because of stories like this:

"Tony and Willy are two brothers who are living with their widowed mother in Mchesi Township. The two boys were found loitering on the street looking for food since their ailing mother could not afford to find food for them. We started working with this family in 2006 and the boys' mother was already HIV positive, her husband reportedly died of the same ailment a few years earlier. Her youngest son, five years old, was also diagnosed with the disease. Both the mother and the youngest son are on ARVs (antiretroviral drugs). We started helping her with food in order to boost her immunity but our intervention did not yield much change. It was when you started giving us VitaMeal that we noted that her health status registered positive change. This was a great relief to the family and she now looks much healthier. Her improvement allowed us to consider her for a loan so that she could support her family. These are the mother's words: 'Thanks to Chisomo for bringing back my life through the provision of VitaMeal. I am now able to do business as opposed to the situation I was in previously, I spent my days tossing and turning on a mat and I was absolutely an invalid. I appeal to you to continue giving us VitaMeal since my little boy and I are now fully revitalised because of them. I could have been dead by now if Chisomo had not intervened.'"

Bolivia

ASCENSIÓN DE GUARAYOS

"This little girl lives in Ascención de Guarayos (300 km from Santa Cruz). It is a town of 10.000 habitants with a lot of poverty. She is attending a school with 600 other students all with the same problems. Many of these children never received treatment for parasites. Thanks to food from Feed the Children and anti-parasite tablets from a local hospital we were able to provide feeding and treatment in several schools for three months. This girl previously attended school only occasionally. Many times she stayed home because she did not eat breakfast and needed to help in the house. Because of our school feeding programme, her mother sent her daughter to school every day for a good meal. Also, her mother attended training sessions with a nutritionist and learned how to prepare VitaMeal."
